MUSC 3. MIDI Sequencing and Notation. 2 Units
Term Typically Offered: Fall, Spring

Introduction to professional music software applications and MIDI hardware. Exploration of various hardware options such as keyboards, computers, synthesizers, samplers, and drum machines. Topics include basic MIDI principles, creating, performing, and printing music using computer-based sequencing and notation software.

MUSC 4. Elements Of Music. 2 Units
Term Typically Offered: Fall only

Elements of Music is designed to introduce you to some of the fundamental materials of music and musicianship with the goal of attaining basic musical literacy. The course focuses on the understanding of some of the ways rhythm and pitch function in music, the interpretation of the most common elements of a musical score, and the association of music notation with sound.

MUSC 8. Basic Music. 3 Units
General Education Area/Graduation Requirement: Arts (3-A)
Term Typically Offered: Fall, Spring

Orientation designed to provide musical knowledge, skills, and competencies necessary for reading music or listening to music.
Note: May not be taken for credit by music majors.

MUSC 9. Music In World Cultures. 3 Units
General Education Area/Graduation Requirement: Arts (3-A)
Term Typically Offered: Fall, Spring

Designed as a survey of world music for music majors. Explores how music is used as a form of human expression in all cultures. Musical instruments, forms and styles, and the roles and functions of music in traditional and contemporary societies in various cultures throughout the world.

MUSC 10A. Survey of Music Literature I. 3 Units
General Education Area/Graduation Requirement: Arts (3-A)
Term Typically Offered: Fall only

Survey of Medieval, Renaissance and Baroque music literature in Western art music, its stylistic development, and cultural context. Emphasis on critical listening and reading multi-part musical notation in treble and bass clefs. Introduction to primary source readings and musicological literature.

MUSC 10B. Survey of Music Literature II. 3 Units
General Education Area/Graduation Requirement: Arts (3-A)
Term Typically Offered: Spring only

Survey of Classical and Romantic music literature in Western art music, its stylistic development, and cultural context. Emphasis on critical listening and reading multi-part musical notation in treble and bass clefs. Introduction to primary source readings and musicological literature.

MUSC 10C. Survey of Music Literature III. 3 Units
Term Typically Offered: Fall only

Survey of 20th and 21st Century music literature in Western art music, its stylistic development, and cultural context. Emphasis on critical listening and reading multi-part musical notation in treble and bass clefs. Introduction to primary source readings and musicological literature.
Note: Open to Music majors and minors; others by instructor permission.

MUSC 11A. Music Theory I. 2 Units
Prerequisite(s): MUSC 4 or placement by exam at the time of university enrollment.
Corequisite(s): MUSC 12A for students enrolled in all music degree programs other than the BA Music degree.
Term Typically Offered: Fall, Spring

Theory I is designed to introduce students to some of the materials and structures of certain styles of tonal and modal music. The course begins with a brief review of fundamentals before moving quickly into the understanding of two important kinds of notational shorthand. The second half of the course is concerned primarily with the study of counterpoint. These studies will prepare students to engage two topics critical to the success of a musician: interpretation and expression.

MUSC 11B. Music Theory II. 2 Units
Prerequisite(s): MUSC 11A or placement by exam at the time of university enrollment.
Corequisite(s): MUSC 12B for students enrolled in all music degree programs other than the BA Music degree.
Term Typically Offered: Fall, Spring

Theory II is designed to deepen students' understanding of some of the materials and structures of certain styles of tonal and modal music. The course is a balance of taking music apart through score analysis and putting music together through model composition, or creating original music that imitates a particular style. These studies will prepare students to engage two topics critical to the success of a musician: interpretation and expression.

MUSC 11C. Music Theory III. 2 Units
Prerequisite(s): MUSC 11B or placement by exam at the time of university enrollment.
Corequisite(s): MUSC 12C for students enrolled in a music degree program other than the BA Music degree
